

Form W-4 (2009)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2009 expires February 16, 2010. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note. You cannot claim exemption from withholding if (a) your income exceeds $950 and includes more than $300 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends) and (b) another person can claim you as a dependent on their tax return.

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earner/multiple job situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you may claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 919, How Do I Adjust My Tax Withholding, for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 919 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 919 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see the Instructions for Form 8233 before completing this Form W-4.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 919 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2009. See Pub. 919, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $180,000 (Married).

IRS Form W-4 Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate

W-4 Overview:

Completing this (IRS) Internal Revenue Service form is a requirement for every new employee. The W-4 form determines how much federal and state tax will be withheld from each paycheck. A yearly renewal of the form is not required unless a change in law makes it mandatory.

Do not complete the worksheet. It only applies to U.S. citizens, U.S. residents, or foreign nationals who have met the substantial presence test.

Instructions:

On line 3, you must select the "Single" status, or the box entitled "Married, but withhold at higher Single rate."

On line 5, you have the option of claiming "0" or "1" allowance. If you claim "0", more tax will be withheld from your paycheck.

Exceptions to line 5 restrictions:

- Residents of Canada, Mexico and South Korea may claim more than one allowance, if certain conditions are met.
- Students from India may claim an allowance for an accompanying spouse and dependent children who are U.S. citizens or residents, if certain conditions are met.
- Nationals of American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands may also claim allowances for dependents

On line 7, you may not claim exempt status. However, you may qualify to claim an exemption from U.S. taxes based on a tax treaty. Please refer to the International Employee section on the BAO website at <http://baowww.uoregon.edu/EmployeeServices/international.htm>. There you will find tax treaty country charts and additional forms.
